AEROSPACE COMPANY CONSULTING CONTACTEES?

In the two part series UFOS - The Secret Evidence, recently televised, the presenter Nick Cook, a defence journalist, goes back to the days of the contactees after discussing abduction experiences. He seems to be of the opinion (as is Tom Baker in the W.H. Smith video series on the unexplained) that it was all created by the CIA to cover up its cold war activities, and the need for people to have a "transcendent thing out there which bodes well for the human race - a natural human feeling".

But then he reveals something which seems to suggest that they were taken seriously by some fairly high-level people at the time: "But what really fascinates me as a defence journalist is that you are as likely to find UFO believers among the higher reaches of the aerospace industry as you are in Hollywood. This is a report into future technology in 1968 by McDonnell Douglas, then one of the biggest defence contractors in the world. What is extraordinary about this document is that it takes the existence of UFOs seriously. It recommends using UFOs and copying their design to make the next quantum leap in aerospace technology":

'This background indicates that some UFOs may be extraterrestrial vehicles; they certainly have not been proven otherwise. The existence of extra-terrestrial vehicles indicates that vehicles can be built which would have capabilities quite useful to McDonnell Douglas Corporation. In addition, if the UFOs are vehicles, then the UFO observations give clues for guiding a research and development program for evolving the vehicles. In summary, the results of an analysis of the UFO observations provide the basis for MDC management to allocate a small expenditure for high-risk high-payoff vehicle R&D. At the same time, the observations provide guidelines for conducting the vehicle R&D'.

"The report even indicated interviewing contactees to gather data and if they were thinking that over 25 years ago, what advances might be on the horizon today?":

Cook then went to visit Tim Ventura, an inventor in Seattle, who seems to have created a lifting device, which was shown to work. It was a trellis work of balsa wood covered in aluminium foil with a corona wire above and a 3-4 centimetre air gap between, and a high-voltage electric field.

He concluded the programme by saying that although he had come to the conclusion that UFOs were largely a CIA cover for cold war activities, he still found the sightings of UFOs over Capitol Hill in 1952 baffling.

Site with interesting video clips

The BBC Hampshire web site (<http://www.bbc.co.uk/southampton/features/ufo/ufo.shtml>) has an interesting page linked to some interesting video clips. One of these is of Busty Taylor, the pilot well known for his photography of crop circles from the air - saying that he has had UFO experiences since he was five, and can remember all of them. He was pictured rolling his aircraft out at Thruxton aerodrome near Andover.

a football pitch - that was at ten o'clock and I saw mine at eight thirty".

The clip said that he had taken photos of tumuli - three thousand year old burial chambers near Stonehenge - and believes they share identical dimensions with UFOs.

Then ex-RAF intelligence officer, David Kingston, showed a picture of what seemed to be an Adamski-type craft seen over the West of England, and said this was the classic UFO shape, the one people generally associate with the word.

He said "One of the witnesses had a camcorder. Two Lynx helicopters had been scrambled from the naval base at Portland over the hill. By this time the UFO had ascended to about 60,000 feet in the blink of an eye. We looked at the film frame by frame and saw things that couldn't be seen when it was run - small spheres dropping down out of the craft".

He said "In December 1988, coming up to my gliding club's Christmas dinner, I witnessed another object, the biggest one I've ever seen. It looked like an airliner from the side with portholes so to speak - with lights shining through it. It had two very bright lights at the back like afterburners, but no noise. It sort of went out over Salisbury Plain and then it went off to the north. That same night in Nottingham they witnessed something that was larger than

He worked for the RAF since the late 50s at Brize Norton and collated many reports from pilots. He can't talk about specific cases as he is still bound by the Official Secrets Act, but he is still absorbed with proving the existence of extraterrestrials

We then saw a college lecturer from Southampton, Craig Roberts, the lecturer in the country's only course in Ufology, at Totton College. His students have won awards for their investigations and give up their spare time to search the skies. Several students were interviewed.

Craig Roberts

Steve Gerrard, who works for Hampshire Police, has set up a group called "Skywatch" who have regular watches, and said that policemen and aircraft pilots have come to them for information. Several members were seen; husband and wife Bill and Jean, whose interest in the subject was secret from each other until they realised both were interested. Jean's sighting had been from a bus, of an object making a zigzag motion. Also 78-year-old Ernie was seen, who claims a gift of healing originating with extraterrestrials, and said we have nothing to fear from them, even though he called his encounters abductions. Steve's interest had originated when he was a teenager, and he was seen holding a copy of Flying Saucers Have Landed.

On Friday March 22, 2002 a fleet of UFOs was seen over Bedhampton, Havant. It was witnessed and videotaped by Anthony Woods, a local resident who has been documenting on video the unusual activity of the unknown flying objects.

Anthony Woods says the activity was so intense it seems to have attracted the interest of the military helicopters whose presence over the area seems to have been increased.

Anthony was in the company of his wife Samantha and both of them were amazed of the large number of white luminous spheres that, in perfect formation, seemed to be performing sophisticated manoeuvres in an amazing display of technology.

He said: "I have filmed some stunning footage today! I first noticed a fleet of spheres above my home around midday; there were hundreds of them! Me, my wife and daughter watched them; I taped over 30 minutes of footage. They were locked together in strange formations, some moving as others hovered, some were touching each other. There were at least 100 objects, probably more. I have never seen so many together before.

After the initial fleet had departed, there were many single and group objects that appeared. I taped these for about 40 minutes."

There was also a video clip of what appeared to be an antigravity device, but there did not appear to be any sound with this.

Titan town

Following the publication of the Titan picture in last January's Amskaya, The Sky at Night Magazine have put a movie on their CD-ROM composed of the pictures taken as Huygens descended. There seems to be another town picture, taken from somewhat higher altitude, again with a curving road but this does not seem to be the same one.

Strange story reported by the Russian Pravda web site, dated 3rd December 2004

Sometimes, some children are born with quite fascinating talents, unusual abilities.

Boriska

I was told the story of an unusual boy named Boriska from members of an expedition to the anomaly zone located in the north of the Volgograd region, most commonly referred to as "Medvedetskaya gryada".

"Can you imagine, while everyone was sitting around the campfire at night, some little boy (about 7 years of age) suddenly asked everyone's attention. Turned out, he wanted to tell them all about life on Mars, about its inhabitants and their flights to earth," shares one of the witnesses. Silence followed. It was incredible! The little boy with gigantic lively eyes was about to tell a magnificent story about the Martian civilization, about megalithic cities, their spaceships and flights to various planets, about a wonderful country Lemuria, life of which he knew in details since he happened to descend there from Mars, had friends there.

Logs were cracking, night's fog enveloped the area and the immense dark sky with myriads of brightly lit stars seemed to conceal some sort of a mystery. His story lasted for about an hour and a half. One guy was smart enough to tape the entire narration.

Many were stunned by the two distinctive factors. First of all, the boy possessed exceptionally profound knowledge. His intellect was obviously far from that of a typical 7-year-old. Not every professor is capable of narrating the entire history of Lemuria and Lemurians and its inhabitants in such details. You will be unable to find any mentioning of this country in school textbooks. Modern science has not yet proved existence of other civilizations.

Second of all, we were all amazed by the actual speech of this young boy. It was far from the kind kids his age usually use. His knowledge of specific terminology, details and facts from Mars' and Earth's past fascinated everyone.

"Why did he start the conversation in the first place," said my interlocutor. "Perhaps, he was simply touched by the overall atmosphere of our camp with many knowledgeable and open-minded people," continued he.

"Could he make this all up?"

"Doubtful", objected my friend. "To me this looks more like the boy was sharing his personal memories from past births. It is virtually impossible to make up such stories; one really had to know them."

Today, after meeting with Boris' parents and getting to know the boy better, I begin to carefully sort out all the information obtained around that campfire. He was born in Volzhskii town in a suburban hospital, even though officially, based on the paperwork, his birthplace is the town of Zhirnovsk of Volgograd region. His birthday is January 11th, 1996. (Perhaps it will be helpful for astrologers).

His parents seem to be wonderful people. Nadezhda, Boriska's mother, is a dermatologist in a public clinic. She graduated from Volgograd medical institute not so long ago in 1991. The boy's father is a retired officer. Both of them would be happy if someone could shed the light onto the mystery behind their child. In the meantime, they simply observe him and watch him grow.

After Boriska was born, I noticed he was able to hold his head in 15 days, recalls Nadezhda. His first word "baba" he uttered when he was 4 months old and very soon afterward started talking. At age 7 months, he constructed his first sentence, "I want a nail." He said this particular phrase after noticing a nail stuck in the wall. Most notably, his intellectual abilities surpassed his physical ones. How did those abilities manifest themselves?

When Boris was just one year old, I started giving him letters (based on the Nikitin's system) and guess what, at 1.5 he was able to read large newspaper print. It didn't take long for him to get acquainted with colors and their shades. He began to paint at 2. Then, soon after he turned 2, we took him to the children day care center. Teachers were all stunned by his talents and his unusual way of thinking. The boy possesses exceptional memory and an unbelievable ability to grasp new information. However, his parents soon noticed that their child had been acquiring information in his own unique way, from some place else.

No one has ever taught him that, recalls Nadya. But sometimes, he would sit in a lotus position and start all these talks. He would talk about Mars, about planetary systems, distant civilizations. We couldn't believe our own ears. How can a kid know all this? Cosmos, never-ending stories of other worlds and the immense skies, are like daily mantras for him since he was 2.

It was then that Boriska told us about his previous life on Mars, about the fact that the planet was in fact inhabited, but as a result of the most powerful and destructive catastrophe had lost its atmosphere and that nowadays all its inhabitants have to live in underground cities. Back then, he used to fly to earth quite often for trade and other research purposes. It seems that Boriska piloted his spaceship himself. This was during the times of the Lemurian civilizations. He had a Lemurian friend who had been killed right before his own eyes.

A major catastrophe took place on earth. A gigantic continent was consumed by stormy waters. Then suddenly, a massive rock fell on a friend who was there, tells Boriska. I could not save him. We are destined to meet some time in this life. The boy envisions the entire picture of the fall of Lemuria as though it happened yesterday. He grieves the death of his best friend as though it was his fault.

One day, he noticed a book in his mother's bag entitled Where do we come from? by Ernst Muldashev. One should have seen the kind of happiness and fascination this discovery triggered in the little boy. He's been flipping through pages for hours, looking at sketches of Lemurians, photos of Tibet. He then started talking about high intellect of the Lemurians. But Lemuria ceased to exist minimum 800 000 years ago, I uttered in response to his statements. Lemurians were 9 meters tall! Is that so? How can you remember all this? I do remember, replied the boy.

Later, he began recalling another book by Muldashev entitled In Search of the City of Gods. The book is mainly devoted to ancient tombs and pyramids. Boriska firmly stated that people will find knowledge under one of the pyramids (not the pyramid of Cheops). It hasn't been discovered yet. "Life will change once the Sphinx will be opened," said he and added that the great Sphinx has an opening mechanism somewhere behind his ear (but he does not remember where exactly). The boy also talks with great passion and enthusiasm about the Mayan civilization. According to him, we know very little about this great civilization and its people.

Most interestingly, Boriska thinks that nowadays the time has finally come for the "special ones" to be born on earth. Planet's rebirth is approaching. New knowledge will be in great demand, a different mentality of earthlings. "How do you know about these gifted kids and why this is happening? Are you aware that they are called "indigo" kids?"

"I know that they are being born. However, I haven't met anyone in my town yet. Perhaps maybe this one girl named Yulia Petrova. She is the only one who believes me. Others simply laugh at my stories. Something is going to happen on earth; that is why these kids are of importance. They will be able to help people. The Poles will shift. The first major catastrophe with one of the continents will happen in 2009. Next one will take place in 2013; it will be even more devastating."

"Aren't you scared that your life may also going to end as a result of that catastrophe?"

"No. I'm not afraid. I have lived through one catastrophe on Mars already. There still live people like us out there. But after the nuclear war, everything has burnt down. Some of those people managed to survive. They built shelters, new weaponry. There was also a shift of continents there, although the continent was not as large. Martians breathe gas. In case they arrived to our planet, they would have been all standing next to pipes and breathing in fumes."

"Do you prefer breathing oxygen?"

"Once you are in this body, you have to breathe oxygen. However, Martians dislike this air, earth's air, because it causes aging. Martians are all relatively young, about 30-35 years old. The amount of such Martian children will increase annually."

"Boris, why do our space stations crash before they reach Mars?"

"Mars transmits special signals aimed at destroying them. Those stations contain harmful radiation."

I was amazed by his knowledge of this sort of radiation "Fabos". This is absolutely true. Back in 1988 resident of Volzhsky Yuri Lushnichenko, a man with extrasensory powers attempted to warn Soviet leaders about the inevitable crash of the first Soviet space stations "Fobos 1" and "Fobos-2". He also mentioned this sort of an "unfamiliar" and harmful for the planet radiation. Obviously, no one believed him then.

"What do you know about multiple dimensions? Do you know that one must fly not on straight trajectories, but maneuvering through the multi-dimensional space?"

Boriska immediately rose to his feet and started to pour all the facts about UFOs. "We took off and landed on Earth almost momentarily!" The boy takes a chalk and begins drawing an oval object on a blackboard. "It consists of six layers," he says. "25%--outer layer, made of durable metal, 30%--second layer made of something similar to rubber, the third layer comprises 30%--once again metal. The final 4% is composed of a special magnetic layer. If we are to charge this magnetic layer with energy, those machines will be able to fly anywhere in the Universe."

Does Boriska have a special mission to fulfill? Is he aware of it? - I pose these questions to his parents and the boy himself. He says he can guess, says his mother. He says he knows something about the future of Earth. He says information will play the most significant role in the future.

"Boris, how do you know all this?" "It is inside of me."

Continuing flap in Mexico

Since 1991 events taking place in Mexico have had extraordinary implications for exopolitics. Perhaps the greatest sightings flap in history has occurred just outside the borders of the United States. An entire nation was given an intense indoctrination into extraterrestrial-related phenomena. The Mexican military and civilian government became involved.

No one is more qualified to present this history than Jaime Maussan. The July 1991 solar eclipse, which passed over Mexico, was the beginning of a wave of mass sightings. Thousands of people across Mexico witnessed and video recorded night lights and daylight disks. Over the past dozen years Maussan has compiled over 5,000 videos and photos from such eyewitnesses and has presented this information around the world. He was born in Mexico City, and earned a B.A. degree in radio and television from the Miami University in Ohio. He has had a 25 year career in the media, during which he has received numerous awards, and is now General Director and Anchorman of "60 Minutes" Mexico.

Alien Activity under Scrutiny, by David Tilley. Report in Mitcham Guardian, from Peter Mott

Strange lights and potato-shaped objects gliding across the skyline are more typical of the Mojave Desert and Roswell, New Mexico but suburban Mitcham has had its share of unexplained sightings. While it has never exactly been a UFO hotspot a number of unusual sights have been made above the town, according to James Clark in his book called Strange Mitcham. In 1963 a strange object was seen gliding across the sky on the evening of August 15. The police received several telephone calls from alarmed people who had seen the object as the skies were darkening. One explanation given at the time was shooting stars but these zip across the sky and rarely resemble vegetables. Two months later on October 14 a pair of unusual lights, swaying across the sky from left to right from the direction of London, was seen between 7.50 p.m. and 8.00 p.m.

The excitement died down until 1997 when a wave of sightings occurred throughout September and October all across Merton. The first sighting was made on September 6 near Morden Hall Park when a large bright white light apparently hovered and danced over a tree in the park near Morden Lodge before finally disappearing at terrific speed. The light returned the following morning and danced for a while before it shot off sideways, followed by a second light. The sightings interested the Travel and Earth Mysteries Society a month later and a further 20 sightings were reported in a fortnight, including orange lights crossing the centre of Mitcham Common, a crimson light hovering above trees in Wimbledon and a bright white light hovering over King's College School, Wimbledon. By November 1997 there were 27 reports of UFOs seen in Morden, Wimbledon and Mitcham. People had seen unidentified red lights, green lights and white lights, some held together and some had bits break off them and fall to earth, some witnesses even gave descriptions of structured craft. One man claimed to have seen a craft "the size of a house" hovering over a Wimbledon recreation ground.

THE HIDDEN UNITY and BEGINNINGS

The Hidden Unity looks at the strange phenomenon of subconscious siting of ley points, and notes that places of worship, of all religions and all ages, tend to predominate on leys. The environmental and philosophical implications of this are discussed, and the apparent necessity of worship but irrelevance of doctrine. Two ley centres are given as examples, and investigated in depth - the Shah Jehan Mosque in Woking and the Guru Nanak Sikh Temple, Scunthorpe. There is an appendix by Eileen Grimshaw on the significance of the Pagan religion to this study. Illustrated with photographs, maps and line drawings. £2 plus 30p p&p from the Amskaya address. Please make cheques payable to J. Goddard.

Beginnings is about a series of potentially useful discoveries, mainly made by Jimmy Goddard over a period of about twenty years, but having some overlap with discoveries made by others. For various reasons, the investigations are all in their early stages, and some have not been continued. They include earth energy detection, natural antigravity, subconscious siting, ley width, and the solar transition effect. There is also a chapter on cognitive dissonance - a psychological factor which seems to have been at the root of all bigotry - scientific, religious and other - down the ages. The booklet is concluded with an account of the discovery of leys by Alfred Watkins. £2 plus 30p p&p from the Amskaya address. Please make cheques payable to J. Goddard.

EARTH PEOPLE, SPACE PEOPLE

In 1961, Tony Wedd produced a manuscript Earth Men, Space Men, detailing many claims of extraterrestrial contact. It was never published, and I had thought it was lost, though it has recently been located - Tony had given it to Timothy Good. To try to make up for the loss in a much more modest size, this booklet was prepared. As well as giving details of some of the more prominent contact claims, there are articles on the history of the STAR Fellowship and some of its personalities, evidence for life in the Solar System and investigation into extraterrestrial language.

THE LEGACY OF TONY WEDD

This CD-ROM is an electronic form of the travelling exhibition Tony planned, using his voice, writing, photographs and drawings to illustrate his research and findings in the fields of flying saucers, landscape energies and lost technology.
